10 PhD STUDENTS WIN CASH PRIZES FOR THESSES

TEN PhD students from Nanyang Technological University and National University of Singapore have each won US$10,000 (S$12,300) for their PhD theses relating to the environment, sustainability and the metropolis of the future. Awarded by World Future Foundation, these prizes are the first in Singapore to recognise excellence in doctoral-level environmental and sustainability research.